The slightest rise above is reported at Holyoke, in order that supplies of water to the mills below may not be cut off unnecessarily. At Holyoke there are upwards of 20 mills engaged in the manufacture of paper, several cotton mills, using about 200,000 spindles, -besides mills that manufacture machinery, water wheels, pumps, cutlery, woolen goods, and rubber-goods. In five leading industries in Holyoke--book binding, foundry and machine products, paper and wood pulp, cotton goods, and woolen goods--nearly twenty million dollars are invested (1900), employing nearly ten thousand wage-earners, and producing an annual product valued at more than sixteen million dollars. The water powers on the Connecticut serve a wide variety of uses. There were, according to the Census of 1880--the latest figures available---212 mills, that used 27,815 horsepower; since 1880 there has been a 20 per cent increase in the use...
