Outskirts Press, United States, 2011. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 213 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Veterinarian Gil Tailor takes a temporary job in a small Colorado town to escape his painful past. But his past gets there first. Dr. Gil Tailor spends two drunken years trying to get over the tragic death of his wife and the disappearance of his best friend. He takes a short-term job at Spanish Peaks Veterinary Clinic near La Veta, Colorado to get his life in order. He's been there only three days when he is asked by Huerfano County Deputy Sheriff Jarmillo to identify some uncovered bones. When Gil arrives to carry out the identification he is shocked to find the bones in a buried stock trailer - his stock trailer - the one that vanished two years ago with his best friend and a $100,000 Longhorn bull. Deputy Jarmillo makes it obvious that he dislikes Gil and suspects him of some sort of criminal conspiracy. Shortly Gil is accused of killing his best friend, the prized bull, a valuable race horse, half a herd of dairy cows and one local son-of-a-bitch. Jarmillo even questions the death of Gil's wife. Gil digs deep to keep himself from falling back into the drunken depths of depression in order to save his reputation, career and eventually his life. While performing the day to day duties of a veterinarian, it is left to him to discover the real perpetrator of these crimes. It's damn sure Jarmillo won't help him. Could the killer be Owen Hansen, the owner of the bull? Hansen runs a large Longhorn ranch near Brush, Colorado, two-hundred-fifty miles north of La Veta. He is a nationally known cattle expert and financial manipulator....
