Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Law of Moses In the Article which follows, a powerful argument is presented in support of the traditional belief of Jews and Christians, and, indeed, of all generations from the time of our Lord till about a hundred years ago, that the Five Books of our Bible, called the Pentateuch, are the Law of Moses. For these last hundred years, a school of criticism has prevailed in the Universities of Germany and England, which denies this tradition, and alleges that these five books are, in their present form, a compilation by Jewish scribes, after the Babylonian captivity, from writers so unknown that they can only be designated by letters, J., E., P., H., and so on, who wrote centuries after Moses. Nor is this the most important part of the critical theory. Such writers might tell the truth. But these writers and compilers together are said to have presented in the Pentateuch, to the Jewish people and the world, a radically false account of early Jewish history, and to have attributed to Moses legislation which came at a much later date. Voltaire once asked whether, if a sacred Book was found to state what was not true, it could be considered sacred.
